

teenVOGUE

Spread the Love with an Alexandra Grant Necklace

Stephanie Dahl
March 24, 2009

Looking for some love? Well, this adorable necklace by Alexandra Grant for LA \times ART could be just the thing! Not only will this swoon-worthy little design hang around your neck, but it might also appear on the roof of a Watts House Project (WHP) home - there could literally be love on a house! Designed in order to raise money for WHP, an organization that works to redevelop the homes around the Watts Towers in LA, this necklace is any easy way to show what's near and dear to your heart.